INDIAN HISTORY

As has already been seen, the Indians played a very important part in the early history of the town. The physical advantages of the location, their burial place on Lane's Island, and the importance of the place to them from its situation in relation to other towns, lead the Indians to resist the advance of the whites with a hostility more indomitable and deadly than they exhibited towards most other settlements in the state. Owing to this, the lands in the interior continued to be laid waste and the inhabitants, though living near together, were often obliged to forsake their dwellings. Husbands and fathers were killed and wives and children were carried into captivity. Compelled to carry arms in their walks, their labors and their worship, the inhabitants said: "There is no peace to him that goeth out nor to him that cometh in. We get our bread at the peril of our lives because of the sword of the wilderness." Mr. Witham Scales, father of Deacon Thomas Scales and Matthew

Scales was killed in the year 1775 on the Scales farm, and soon after Joseph Felt, father of Mrs. Peter Weare, was killed at Broad Cove. Felt's wife and children were carried into captivity and afterwards redeemed by Capt. Weare. Joseph Weare, a grandson of Felt, never lost an opportunity to be revenged on the Indians. Several stories are told concerning him, the truth of which the writer would not vouch for, are quoted from "Old Times." Weare once lived near the bank of the Androscoggin river at Lewiston Falls. In some way he learned that a war party had planned to descend the river one dark night and attack the settlers in that vicinity. In order to prevent getting too near the falls in the darkness, they sent one of their number down the river to build a fire on the island some way above the falls. After nightfall Weare surprised and killed the sentinel, extinguished the fire, and built another on the island just at the head of the falls, now known locally as Island Garden. The Indians, feeling secure as long as they were above the beacon light were caught in the rapids before they realized their danger and were carried over the falls to death. On another occasion Weare was splitting rails near his home when six Indians approached him and asked if he could tell them where Joe Weare lived, to which question the quick-witted old scout replied in the affirmative and offered to show them the person they sought as soon as he had finished the log on which he was then at work. When "Joe" had driven in his wedge and had the log well opened he asked the Indians to help him by pulling on each side as he drove the wedge; to this the party agreed and took hold, three on each side, with their fingers in the crack of the log, when Joe by a dexterous blow of the sledge knocked out the wedge causing the seam to close like a vice upon their hands and leaving them at the mercy of their terrible enemy, who as he gave each a death blow with his axe shouted in the ears of his victims: "I'm Joe Weare, d—— you, I'm Joe Weare."

The hostility of Weare towards the Indians was never abated. He swore to kill one for every drop of blood they drew from the veins of his brother-in-law.

Philip Greely, ancestor of the Greely family of this town, and of Portland, was killed Aug 9, 1746 at the lower Falls near the house of the late Mr. Daniel True, when a company of thirty-two Indians had secreted themselves intending to surprise Weare's garrison when the men should have gone to work. They were discovered by Mr. Greely's dog, else they had probably suffered him to pass unmolested. Though Mr. Greely lost his life, this probably saved the garrison.

It was in a skirmish with the savages that Walter Gendall, one of the bravest and foremost men of the early days was slain by a shot through the body. Separated from his men by the river he suddenly noticed that they ceased firing, and by their signal he knew that their ammunition was exhausted and that they were at the mercy of the savages. Against the entreaties of his wife and family he determined to risk the chance of death, by crossing the open river to save his men. He managed to get safely by the middle of the stream, but as the boat touched shore he received a bullet in the body and immediately expired, having only time to throw the ammunition ashore and say: "I have lost my life in your service." The party were now enabled to maintain their ground till night came on when the Indians retreated. These are only a few typical illustrations of the warfare that was continually raging.

To summarize the Indian wars which bore directly on the history of Yarmouth: In 1675 the Indians began a war of extermination, and the settlers were obliged to abandon their homes which were pillaged and burned. After three years, peace was made and the inhabitants returned to their desolate homes.

In 1688 there was another outbreak. The saw mills were burned and many inhabitants butchered. Forced to abandon their homes the second time the few surviving settlers removed to Jewell's Island and built a fort there to protect themselves until they could return to Massachusetts.

In 1715 the town was again reclaimed and the later Indian troubles were not of a serious nature.

The old redoubt on Prince's Point behind which is a grass covered lawn succeeded by a beautiful grove was the annual resort of the Indians in the early days. The high bank to the left of the redoubt is for many rods composed of shells intermixed with soil which is the accumulation of these annual feasts. To the right the falling bank occasionally discloses an Indian skeleton showing this bank to have been to them the place of burial for their dead, and the feasts were probably held to the departed warriors

FIRST SETTLEMENT.

The capacious bay adjacent, its fine harbors and numerous islands, its small but valuable river, fish, game, and a bountiful supply of timber favorably situated for exportation, early invited white settlers to No. Yarmouth. The town of No Yarmouth, now Yarmouth, was settled in 1680. It was originally called Wescustogo, the Indians name for Royal River. But at its incorporation, which was the same year as its settlement, its name was changed to North Yarmouth.

FIRST PURCHASE OF LAND.

As early as 1640, Geo. Felt, born in 1600, lived in a stone garrison at Broad Cove on land which he purchased of John Phillips, a Welchman who had probably before occupied it and which in 1643 he repurchased of an agent of Sir Ferdinando Georges, proprietor of Maine.

About the same period William Royal, who came from England, was living on a farm on the east side of the river which bears his name. John Cousins as early as 1637 was living near the neck of land dividing the branches of Cousins River, and a little later (1645) purchased the island which bears his name.

Other inhabitants at an early period were Richard Bray, who, in 1647, bought one half of Cousins Island; James Lane; John Maine, on Maine Point; John Holman on Holman's (Prince Point); Thos. Reading on east side Cousins River; Thomas Wise, Thomas Shepherd, Nicholas White, Thomas Blashfield, Amos Stevens, and Walter Gendall. The settlement steadily grew and in 1674 a man by the name of Sayward erected the first saw mill at the lower falls on the east side of the river.

The settlement had now existed for a period of from 30 to 40 years. About 1675 King Philips war commenced, when the inhabitants fled to the westerly towns where they could be defended, and the mill recently erected and most of the dwellings were burned.

SECOND OCCUPATION.

Peace was again concluded at Falmouth, April, 1678, and the inhabitants, most of whom survived, began to return to their deserted homes. Walter Gendall purchased the tract of land on which H Sayward had formerly built a saw mill, and rebuilt the structure. A brisk business was carried on. One half the mill rented for 50,000 feet of merchantable boards per annum. A corn mill was now erected at the lower falls, and Gendall had a dwelling house on the east side of the river Royal, near his mills, and one of rude construction for his men on the opposite shore.

This takes us up to 1680 when the town was incorporated under the name of No. Yarmouth. A committee consisting of B. Gedney, Walter Gendall, Joshua Scotton and Silvanus Davis were appointed to superintend the laying out of the town. Under their direction the town was layed out on a spot then known as Maine's Point.

The committee above named was soon superceded by the appointment of John Royal, John York, John Harris, and Walter Gendall as trustees of the town, and at a town meeting in Feb., 1685, grants of land were made to a large number of the inhabitants.

The families were now about 36 in number, located chiefly along the river and seashore. They had now enjoyed a ten years period of peace and prosperity. The Indians had not molested them and they had not only repaired the havoc wrought by King Philip's war but had made some advance.

In 1688 the little colony of hardy settlers, now numbering 160, was doomed to another disaster in the breaking out of King William's war. The Indians poured in upon them, and those who survived betook themselves to Jewell Island and thence to Boston.

THIRD SETTLEMENT.

No attempt was made to repeople the town until 1713 when the town had been desolate for about twenty-five years and the traces of habitation had almost been obliterated. But finally the sons, the grandsons, and a few of the old inhabitants, came back to the ashes of the former habitations.

The settlement slowly revived and in 1722 the population was about 100. During that year, at the petition of the inhabitants and other claimants of the possessions in No.

Yarmouth, the general court appointed a committee consisting of William Taylor, Elisha Cook, William Dudley, John Smith and John Powell to superintend the settlement.

This committee directed the affairs of the settlement until 1733 when they proposed to the General Court that they be dismissed and that the settlement have the rights and privileges enjoyed by other towns. This proposal was agreed to and a town meeting was at once called and regular town officers chosen.

The growth of the town was slow, due largely to the continual wars with the Indians. After 1760 the Indians became less troublesome and people began to venture back three and four miles from the salt water, and the population of the town rapidly increased. The rest from wars, however, was soon interrupted by the war of the Revolution. The inhabitants of the town engaged with one voice in opposing the earliest acts of aggression by Great Britain.

At an early meeting on the 20th of May previous to the Declaration of Independence the citizens voted that "Should the Honorable Congress for the safety of the united Colonies declare them independent of the kingdom of Great Britain that inhabitants of this town do solemnly engage with their lives and fortunes to support Congress in the measure."

After the war was over, and the work at the mills and on the farms once more in progress the town made rapid strides in population and prosperity. Ship building became a prominent industry and later a cotton mill was erected. The business comprised six stores, saw, grist, fulling, card, and paper mills, jewelry, clocks, cabinets, saddle, chaise and wagon shops, and three blacksmith shops. Two tanneries, brick yard, ship yard, two taverns and a busy stage line.

In 1849 the town and territory whose history we have been tracing separated from No. Yarmouth, and was incorporated as a separate town under the name of Yarmouth, bounded on the north by North Yarmouth, on the east by Pownal, on the south by Casco Bay, and on the west by Cumberland. Its islands are Cousins, Little John's, Great and Little Moges, Lane's and Crab Island.

SCHOOL ITEMS

At an early period Robert Bailey was employed as a teacher in the town of North Yarmouth. Annual appropriations were made for the support of the early schools, liberal amounts being raised, considering the value of money at the time. The grammar school was early taught for many years by Judge Mitchell.

In the year 1811 North Yarmouth Academy was incorporated, the twenty-first to be established in the state. An appropriation of 11,520 acres of land was made for its support. In 1826 the state endowed it by the gift of a grant of one-half a township which was sold to advantage and the proceeds placed as a perpetual fund for the maintainance of the institution. The building now in use was begun in 1841, completed in 1847, and serves as a convenient and commodious school building. Few schools of its kind in the state offer to its students better advantages than does this old established institution. The following is a list of those who have served as principals of the Academy: Joseph Sherman, Samuel H. Shepley, Nathan Dole, Allen H. Weld, Daniel Lane, Samuel W. Blanchard, Geo. Woods, Samuel H. Shepley, Geo. A. Robinson, Albert D. Wiggin, A. Q. Randall, Edmond Hoyt, John M. Jewett, John F. Moody, B. P. Snow and F. H. Dole the present principal.

For twenty years this Academy existed as a high school for Yarmouth, but the rest of the time it has stood as an independent institution. In the year 1836 there were 154 students attending to its instruction, 45 of these being in the Classical department. This department fitted for college then, as now, and from the year 1837 to 1850 there were 140 graduates who went to Bowdoin, besides many to Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale.

Many men of note and of national fame have here laid the foundation for their higher education; among these we might mention William Willis, the poet and historian, who went from here to Harvard; Leonard Swett, the confident and friend of Abraham Lincoln; Gen. Oliver O. Howard and his two brothers were graduates of this institution; from here the general went to Bowdoin thence to West Point; John Goodenow, of Alfred, once Consul General of the U. S. to Constantinople; Hon. Thomas B. Reed, Maine's most noted statesman; Congressman Chas. Boutelle; and many others.

YARMOUTH CLASSICAL AND ENGLISH SCHOOL

George Woods, in 1850, opened a rival school to North Yarmouth Academy. This school was situated almost opposite the present school building, on the lot now occupied by Grand Army hall. This school was run for several terms and had an attendance of from 75 to 80 students, but it was like a house divided against itself, both could not prosper, and this school was suspended.

We cannot do better than to cast a glance toward the typical common school as known in Maine in the early days. Even as soon as our forefathers, almost invariably of Puritan extraction, had located themselves in the forests of the Pine Tree State and began their efforts of erecting churches, they made provision for the common school. They in common with us of today considered education the bulwark of our institutions, the institutions for the establishment of which they had fought and bled. They knew therefore, better than we, how much depended upon the proper guidance of the newly established government. They saw their liberties and property, we had almost said wrapt up in the future of the new government which Washington had said was "one today and thirteen tomorrow." Is it a strange thing that these people who so well understood the significance of these trying years, should so thoroughly grasp at the thought that in the education of the masses lay their only hope of ultimate success? No, they saw well their duty, and as pioneers prepared to meet it. A room in the little log cabin became the university of the wilderness and humble as was this first effort, mighty results came from it. From out of these rough, low-roofed structures walked men who were yet to meet the representatives of the courts of Europe, in the battlefield, in diplomacy, and in scores of other capacities from which they were emerged unscathed. This system of education went on till it almost became a necessary thing for a man to reach the president's chair that he be able to present a career begun in "The Little Red Schoolhouse" in the backwoods hamlet. It was not that the people loved wealth and culture less, but that they loved the more the homely virtues inspired by the healthy atmosphere of the country. And as we look back today over the progress of our school system we dwell with pride upon the record it has made. But this system, like all others, was expected to advance and it has advanced. The town of Yarmouth has in common with other towns, reared the homely structures on the hillsides and at the cross roads, hired male teachers at $10 to $15 a month, and female teachers at 75 cents to $1.50 a week and this with the "Board Round" provision.

The public schools of Yarmouth are doing excellent work under the present system and management. Many modern helps and methods have been adopted, and the schools are a credit to this up-to-date and thrifty community.

The High school is under the care of Prof. H. M. Moore; the Supt. of the town schools is F. B. Merrill, of Yarmouthville.

INDUSTRIAL ACCOUNT.

Yarmouth is now largely a manufacturing center, but this was not so in the early days. The first comers were chiefly home seekers who from necessity must till the soil for their corn and grain, or go abroad on the sea to obtain the treasures of the ocean waters. On account of the dangers from the Indians they were often obliged to depend on the products of the fishing industry for their sustenance.

SHIP BUILDING.

Naturally ship building was an early occupation since this was one of the things that was necessary to the settlement. But it was not long before this became an important commercial industry and the town of North Yarmouth is known to have early held a large interest in navigation and shipbuilding, and ably supported the valued reputation gained by her early workmen.

Yarmouth vessels were noted for their thorough construction, their graceful models and their superior sailing qualities. With its unrivaled facilities for constructing and floating vessels this industry was one of the most profitable and substantial sources of wealth to the place.

The business of building vessels has been so extensively carried on in this town that to give a full detailed account is out of the sphere of this small volume. The first ship, we are told, was built on Cousin's Island, this was probably built for the use of the settlers when escaping from the hostile Indians.

The business developed rapidly when not interfered with by the Indian attacks. Some of the older inhabitants remember having seen as many as nine vessels on the stocks at one time. In the year 1874 eight vessels with an aggregate of 4618 tons burden were launched from the Yarmouth yards.

As it may be interesting to give an account of the size and style of craft employed in packet business a century ago we will give the recorded dimensions of a few of the early vessels. The schooner "Union," John Prince captain, was owned in North Yarmouth in 1791, was of 81 30-95 tons; the schooner "Lucy," Capt. Joseph Young, was built in North Yarmouth in 1792, and was 28 ft. 4 in. long, 9 ft. 6 in. beam and only 4 feet depth of hold.

COTTON MILL.

The Royal River Manufacturing Co., incorporated in 1857, is one of the most prominent industries in the town. From 1871 to 1888 the business was conducted by L. L. Shaw and B. Freeman under the firm name of Freeman, Shaw & Co. On the retirement of Mr. Freeman in 1888 all interests were purchased by L. L. Shaw, the present owner. Under his efficient management the business has developed to its present magnitude, the success being accredited largely to the excellent quality and superior workmanship of the fabric turned out. This is a variety mill, spinning coarse and fine yarn, and manufacturing seamless grain bags. The industry employs an average of 50 hands, and produces annually an average of 400,000 pounds of manufactured goods.

SHOE MANUFACTURING.

The Hodsdon Shoe Co. is numbered among the three most prominent industries of the town and is one of the oldest shoe manufacturing industries in New England. This company was established in Portland in 1869 under the name of Caldewell & Hodsdon. In 1880 Mr. J. Y. Hodsdon saw the advantages offered by Yarmouth for the location of his factory, and soon built the commodious building which the concern still occupies. In 1896 the business was incorporated as the Hodsdon Shoe Co. The product of the company is strictly ladies' and misses' boots, shoes and oxfords, which are sold exclusively to jobbers. The business has been successful from the first, being located on a never failing water privilege, and having very convenient transportation facilities has added largely to the value of the business.

PULP MILLS.

The industry which has proven to be the greatest boon to Yarmouth, and which gives employment to the greatest number of men is the Forest Paper Co., whose mills are located on the Grand Trunk Railroad at the Upper Village.

This company purchased the old paper mill and began the manufacture of soda pulp in 1874, being the first mill of its kind in New England. Today this is one of the largest plants in the country for the manufacture of pulp, employing 200 men and having a capacity of 60 tons soda fiber per day. About 30,000 cords of wood are consumed per year. This industry is now under the management of its heaviest owner, Geo. Hammond; and A. H. Twombly, superintendent.

New buildings have been recently constructed for additional room, and the factory fitted out with up-to-date machinery.

CHURCH ACCOUNT

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

In 1729 the old meeting house was erected on the spot now occupied by the house of Capt. John Young. The first dimensions were about 40x54 feet, but in 1762 the church was enlarged to 40x94, and a porch was added. A new church at the Falls village was built in 1820. This led to the abandonment of the "Old Meeting House."

The Rev. Samuel Woodbury, who died July 6, 1819, was the last regular minister of the Old Church. Old Parson Noah Cressey preached there a short period after the death of Mr. Woodbury. The old edifice gradually fell into a state of neglect and dilapidation and finally by order of the town authorities was torn down in 1835 or '36.

Three years prior to the permanent organization of the town, and one year after the meeting house was raised and boarded, Nov. 18, 1730, nine brethren, Ammi R. Cutler, Samuel Seabury, Jacob Mitchell, Joseph Chandler, Ebenezer Eaton, Samuel Fisher, Samuel Tolman, Benjamin Prince, and Jedediah Southworth, affixed their names to a covenant, and were constituted a church. This was the tenth church in Maine; Rev. Mr. Cutler was the first pastor.

The second Congregational church was gathered Oct. 1, 1806, and Rev. John Dunton was installed pastor. This church in a few years became divided, and changed to the first Unitarian church.

When the old Meeting house was destroyed the old copper vane was taken as a relic by Mr. Solomon Winslow. In 1838 a small subscription was raised by Messrs. Samuel Gooding, Dexter Hale, John Gurney, Reuben Chandler, Jr., and others to purchase the vane of Mr. Winslow and also to procure an iron rod on which it should be mounted. The old vane was placed on the ledge where it now stands, on the 27th of April, 1838.

Following is a list of pastors who have served the First Congregational church, with the dates of their arrival: Ammi R. Cutler, 1730; Nicholas Loring, 1736; Edward Brooks, 1764; Tristram Gilman, 1769; Francis Brown, D. D., 1810; Joseph W. Curtis, 1816; Samuel Woodbury, 1817; Asa Cummings, D. D., 1821; David Shepley, 1829; Edmund R. Alden, 1850; Charles A. Aiken, 1854; George A. Putman, 1860; Leavitt Bartlett, 1871; Joseph Torry, D. D., 1875;

Lawriston Reynolds, 1885; Charles E. McKinley, 1894; Minot S. Hartwell, 1896; Charles D. Crane, 1899; Robert R. Marson, 1903.

The present church was erected in 1868. It is valued at $20,000. This is a convenient and commodious church home, and has been remodeled from time to time, adding to its value and beauty. The parsonage owned by the society is valued at $2500. Present membership 215.

BAPTIST CHURCH

This church was organized Jan. 18, 1797, with seven members. It was incorporated the following June and named the "Baptist Religious Society of Yarmouth." The old meeting house on the hill was built in 1796, before the church was organized.

In 1837 it was extensively remodeled. The present house of worship was dedicated May 23, 1889. Cost of construction, $9,000.

The church has a long and honorable history. It has ordained ministers, sent forth missionaries, maintained faithfully, sometimes at no small sacrifice, the principle for which it stands, and contributed generously to the promotion of benevolent and missionary enterprises.

Its pastors have been as follows: Rev. Thomas Green, D. D., served from 1797-1814; Rev. Sylvanus Boardman, 1810-1816; Rev. Otis Briggs came in 1816; Rev. Stephen Chopin, D. D., 1819; Rev. Alonzo King, 1826; Rev. John Butler, 1831; Rev. Zabdiel Bradford, 1837; Chas. W. Reding, 1845; Rev. William W. Jacobs, 1848; Rev. Lorenzo B. Allen, 1850; William S. Hoben, 1857; Chas. F. Foster, 1861; Henry A. Hart, 1865; W. Melcher, 1867; Geo. B. Ilsley, 1873; Frank G. Davis, 1880; Alvin Smith, 1883; W. H. Lane, 1886; James Graham, 1891; John H. Barrows, 1892; Herbert L. Caulkins is the present successful pastor who has served the society faithfully and acceptably since 1898.

CENTRAL UNITARIAN CHURCH

This society was organized on April 3, 1806, but no regular pastors were had until 1886 when Rev. William Brunton was chosen, and remained three years. Previous to this the pulpit was filled more or less regularly by supplies. Those who have succeeded Rev. Mr. Brunton as pastors have been Reverends, James Pratt, Arthur G. Pettengill, Oliver K. Crosby, Joseph Cady Allen, Joseph E. Locke.

The building now used by this society as a house of worship was erected in 1859 by the proprietors of the Central Congregational Meetinghouse and was maintained as a Congregational House until 1885 when it passed into the present ownership. The church property is valued at $5,000. The church membership at the present time is about 75.

CATHOLIC CHURCH

The Catholic church was built by Rev. Dennis M. Bradley late Bishop of Manchester, N. H., and was dedicated July 27, 1879. It was first supplied from the Cathedral in Portland, then it went under the jurisdiction of the parish priest of Lisbon. The first resident rector was Father J. A. Flinn.

The present rector was appointed to this town in June, 1900, thus making it a separate parish. The membership is 250. The valuation of Church property is $3500.

METHODIST CHURCH

The present Methodist Church was founded May 4, 1894, in the house of Capt. Levi Marston, by Rev. H. A. Peave, and began its existence with nine members. At first the meetings were held in the old white church on Elm street. The present church was dedicated in 1898. The pastors have been as follows: Clinton Simonton, 1896; Robert Lawton, 1897; C. A. Brooks, 1898-1904. Rev. Alphonso Bryant, was appointed to this church by the last session of the Maine Conference.

Census of Yarmouth

The population of the town of Yarmouth has been arranged herewith in families where that arrangement has been possible. In these families, in addition to the resident living members, the names of the non-resident members are included. It should be borne in mind that this plan does not include the names of all former residents of this town, as the names of the non-residents appear only when one or both the parents are still living in the town. At the end of the Census will be found the names of non-residents with their present addresses, when such addresses have been given to us. The non-residents are indicated by the (*).

Following the names of the population is the occupation. To designate the occupations we have used the more common abbreviations and contractions. Some of these follow: Farmer—far; carpenter—car; railroad service—R R ser; student, a member of an advanced institution of learning—stu; pupil, a member of a lower grade of schools—pl; housework—ho; laborer—lab; physician and surgeon—phy & sur; clergyman—clerg; merchant—mer; teacher—tr; blacksmith—blk; clerk—cl; book-keeper—bk kpr; lawyer—law; mechanic—mech; engineer—eng; insurance—ins; maker—mkr; worker—w'kr; work—wk; shoe shop work—s s work.

This Census was taken expressly for this work during the summer of 1904, by R. C. Russell, Kent's Hill, Me.

The Committee having at Sundry times heretofore given Public Notice to all Persons by Printing Advertisements, & dispersing them through the Country of their meeting at Boston to receive the Claims of any that heretofore had lotts Assigned them in North Yarmouth by the Committee impowered by the Governour and Company of the Colony of the Massachusetts Bay in 1681 or by the Select men of the said Town of North Yarmouth agreeable to the power Committed to them as well as to admit such others as were desirous of having new lots assigned them in that Township & did design to bring forward and perfect the Intended Settlement there, in a regular & defensible manner as Should be directed & appointed by the Committee, and that the Ancient proprietors may bring in or send in their Grants or Claims to any land att North Yarmouth aforesaid to their Clerk at Boston that so no one might be Abridged of their former Grants or Allotments, and all future Controverses prevented as far forth as the Committee Could, And Whereas Several did Appear in Person and Show forth that they had grants of land made to them in the years 1681 to 1685-6, together with others, the Representatives of Such in order to Settle that Town, All which appeared to us by the town book of North Yarmouth. Many others although they Could not produce their Grants from the Town book, and the allotment thereof, Yet by Sufficient Witnesses proved that their Ancestors had Such grants made them by the then Select men and a Committee appointed for that purpose and improved the same untill forced off by the Indian war, Some of whom had their houses destroyed, their papers & other things Consumed by fire, the whole amounting to thirty-Six families, many others also appearing to be admitted and join in resettling these lands. The Committee having informed themselves of the Scituation & Circumstances of the lands there, determined to receive so many new settlers as would make up One Hundred, with the former proprietors, which the tract of Land would Sufficiently accommodate, besides a Ministry Lott, a Minister's Lott and another lott for the School. All which being done the Committee, the fifteenth of September last, Ordered & Appointed the bounds of the town to be Run and Survey platt & lay out fifty home lotts.

On a certain tract of land within the township. On a neck of land formerly Called Maines neck, now Called Yarmouth neck, lying on the west side of Royalls river to be performed by Capt. Jeremiah Moulton and Mr. Benjamin Flagg And now reading and Considering their Return, the Committee Apprehend that the whole number of Settlers might be accomodated with home lotts, on the aforesaid neck of land now called Yarmouth Neck, and Accordingly the 22nd day of April last past, directed the aforesaid Surveyers to repair to North Yarmouth to Survey & platt fifty three house lotts, more of the Same Contents of the first fifty in the most Convenient places on the aforesaid neck & to perfect the platting and laying out the same & then to Survey and platt the whole township. The Committee having on the 23d day of March preceding directed a Printed Advertisement to give Public Notice that they intended to meet at the house of Mr. James Parker, Inholder at Yarmouth, the 10th Instant, in order to finish & fix the Several lotts. As also to Agree upon Such orders and rules as should be thought most Conductive to perfect the Settlement and upon reviewing what the Surveyer, Benjamin Flagg, hath done and finding that he has not perfected the laying out and platting the whole Number of the lotts the committee deferred Drawing the Same for the present.

Upon Thursday May 18th the Surveyer laying before the Committee a Draught of the One Hundred and three lotts by him surveyed & marked on the aforesaid tract of land now called Yarmouth Neck. The first lott Number One, beginning at Holman's point near broad Cove on the Easterly side thereof at North Yarmouth in Casco bay aforesaid & from thence the other lotts Extending Northeasterly by the bay to a point of land heretofore called Maines point when James Parker now improved & from thence up Royalls river on the Southwest side thereof near to the first falls in said river with some lots in back of the aforesaid Lotts, bordering on the bay & river aforesaid and some on broad Cove. The Committee proceeded & Agreed upon the method for drawing lotts, for such home lotts as were not heretofore assigned to the former Proprietors, and some few that were allowed to fix upon their lotts before any were drawn for, and then those that appeared by themselves or substitutes were once & again informed that none would be intitled to a lott in North Yarmouth, although he was admitted then to Draw unles he would punctually do and perform Such things as the Committee Should direct & order for the more Effectual, Speedy and Sure Settlement of the township which no one gainsay'd. They began upon the drawing out the Several lotts. Each man's name that was to draw being wrote upon a single piece of paper folded up and then put into a hatt, Amounting in the whole to Sixty four And then the same Number of Papers folded with a Distinct number on each one & put into another hatt, and as the Names of the Persons were Severally & distinctly taken out the Number that followed each man's name determined his lott. These Sixty four with the affixed lotts making up the amount of One hundred and three lotts. Each man's lott as well the Ancient Settlers as those now taken in are in the following the Number of the fixed lotts being interspersed with the others now drawn for, though none of them were put into the hatt.
